New York City - 06.10.2009

Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg today announced the creation of the Recovery Zone Facility Bond Program to provide financial assistance to commercial and industrial projects in all five boroughs that are unable to get traditional financing due to current economic conditions. The program, to be administered by New York City Economic Development Corporation, will be funded by what is expected to be more than $200 million in funding made available through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (ARRA). Eligible projects may include the construction of office buildings, large industrial facilities or retail complexes.

The National Cancer Institute (NCI) is developing an electronic resource, the NCI Clinical Trials Reporting Program (CTRP) Database, to serve as a single, definitive source of information about all NCI-supported clinical research, thereby enabling the NCI to execute its mission to reduce the burden of cancer and to ensure an optimal return on the nation's investment in cancer clinical research. Information will be submitted by clinical research administrators as designees of clinical investigators who conduct NCI-supported clinical research. Deployment and extension of the CTRP Database, which will allow the NCI to consolidate reporting, aggregate information and reduce redundant submissions, is an infrastructure development project that will be enabled by public funds expended pursuant to the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009.

US Department of Health and Human Services - 06.18.2009 Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology

The Health Information Technology (HIT) Committee issued a notice on the Committee's discussions of and draft recommendations for the term "meaningful use" available at <http://healthit.hhs.gov>. Comments will be received by the Committee for consideration and further recommendations to the National Coordinator of Health Information Technology on the elements and measures of Meaningful Use of a certified EHR. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 provides for Medicare and Medicaid incentive payments for eligible providers, such as physicians and hospitals, in order to promote the adoption of EHRs. To receive the incentive payments, providers must demonstrate "meaningful use" of a certified EHR.

Comments due June 26, 2009.

US Department of Transportation - 06.17.2009

U.S. Transportation Secretary LaHood announced guidelines for receiving economic recovery funds for high-speed rail. The guidelines require rigorous financial and environmental planning to make sure projects are worthy of investment and likely to be successful. The program will offer grants for both planning and construction so that states can apply for funds no matter what stage of development their project is in. The guidance states that proposals will be considered on the merits for their ability to make trips quicker and more convenient reduce congestion on highways and at airports and meet other environmental, energy and safety goals. And it allows the USDOT to actively promote standard specifications for rail cars and other equipment. The Federal Railroad Administration will award the first round of grants by mid-September.
